

Special Offer!

This workshop is FREE
for ACFID Members

Cat. 5-9*

ETHICAL PRACTICE IN THE FIELD:

Principles for researchers, evaluators and practitioners of international development

Building 37, RMIT University Melbourne

May 16 2018

9:00am-5:00pm

- ◆ Do you work with vulnerable or marginalised communities?
- ◆ Are you involved in project or program evaluations?
- ◆ Do you commission or practice research or evaluation projects in the international development sector?

The Research for Development Impact (RDI) Network is offering a professional development workshop for NGO practitioners working in research and evaluation to strengthen their knowledge and confidence in ethical practice.

Participants will explore the Principles and Guidelines for Ethical Research and Evaluation in Development and gain knowledge, skills and practical tools to apply these in their work.

The Network acknowledges the generous support of RMIT University in hosting this workshop.

For more information, visit:

<https://rdinetwork.org.au/events/>

REGISTRATION

Places are limited!
Register your attendance by completing the form here:

<https://form.jotform.co/RDINetwork/Melbourne>

PRICING

Non-ACFID members:	$180 excl. GST
ACFID Members Cat. 1-4* and Affiliates	$150 excl. GST
ACFID Members Cat. 5-9*	FREE

*ACFID member categories can be verified by contacting us.

The RDI Network is a network of practitioners, researchers and evaluators working in international development.

E: rdi@acfid.asn.au

A collaboration between the Australian Council for International Development and Australian universities