Wed 16 June 1-4pm AEST	Exclusive to conference attendees Live workshop #5: RDI21-128: Imagining Feminist Futures After COVID-19: An interactive, virtual workshop Alice Ridge and Jo Pradela, International Women's Development Agency (IWDA) Imagining Feminist Futures After COVID-19 is a project coordinated by IWDA with support from a Steering Group of actors across the feminist movement, including Fiji Women's Rights Movement, Gender at Work and Oxfam International. Through this project we have created a new workshop methodology drawing on futures thinking and feminist approaches to explore how the COVID-19 crisis is changing future trajectories – both positive and negative – for feminist social change towards 2030. In this workshop, participants will engage in a 3-hour interactive, virtual discussion to explore the potential impacts of COVID-19 on trends which are observable today. They will collectively identify feminist futures that could emerge from these trends, and the transformative shifts required to create them. These transformative futures will be shared with conference delegates on Day 2. Max attendees are 25 pax.

Student Forum: Wednesday 30 June 2021 (AEST)
